Ok guys here is an update on the state of play on Adam Feeley.

Today is 4th straight day of headlines and additional revelations about Adam Feeley.

I am maintaining daily communications with Jared Strapp at the Herald and he is passing information directly to me that the Herald can't run and so are feeding me to run on the blog in the meantime I also have additional information flowing in via my tipline. That information will be dip led into the media or via my blog.

Herald articles:

- Fran O'Sullivan: More than a storm in a champagne flute
- Editorial: SFO's bubbly an error of judgment
- SFO bubbly celebration vindictive, Peirce says
- Ex-SFO chief discloses champagne incident

Cathy can outline her contact with Fran O'Sullivan separately. Basically though the Herald and other media are now picking up our lines that this situation is like "Carver's Wife" where the head of the SFO must be beyond reproach. If he would nick a bottle of wine what else has he nicked or hidden from receivers and investigators?

So far the Herald has been running this. expect HBR to publish on Friday. Cathy will be chatting with Jack Anderson and I will cover Matt Hipped.

Our (Cathy's) nickname for Feeley (Five Fingers Feeley) has stuck. Journalists using me actually use to describe Feeley now in phone conversations.

I also spoke at length with the Adminstr responsible today (Judith Collins). She is gunning for Feeley. Any information that we can provide her on his background is appreciated. I have outlined for her a coming blog post about the massive staff turnover and she has added that to the review of the State Services Commission. She is using the review of these events to go on a trail looking for anything else. It is my opinion that Feeley's position is untenable.

I have also arranged with Matthew Hoagton for Fredrick (<http://www.fredrick.com/>) the prediction markets to have a new stock released so people can invest on the probability of Adam Feeley getting the sack before Christmas or leaving. These stocks
